Design Concept & Process:

This quilt is the first of a series of quilts based on photos taken at dawn on a beach in Kauai, where we were the first humans of the day to walk on the sand.

The figures were appliqued onto a background fabric and quilted with several different colors of thread, using patterns created by ocean waves on sand as the tide recedes. The quilting patterns flow across the appliqued figures. The fabrics are both part of Caryl's second collection of "Gradations" for Benartex, and are available at www.bryerpatch.com.
